

The Placencia Hotel, Residences, and Marina

The beauty of Belize

It's unlikely that any other entity doing business in the Central American country of Belize has taken such advantage of the region's natural beauty, nor offered such a compelling vision for its future development as The Placencia Hotel and Residences. Situated on the Placencia Peninsula, this 16-mile strip of tropical paradise, sandwiched between the Caribbean Sea and the Placencia Lagoon, boasts tall coconut palms, pristine beaches, and now, one of the country's most spectacular tourist and residential complexes.

Madeleine Lomont has been with the Placencia from the beginning and, today, she is the Executive Assistant to its owner and founder, Marco Caruso, as well as Head of Real Estate Sales. "I met Marco and his family when they first came here at the end of 2000,"
